THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS.

DOETS of all uges have celebrated in song the beauty of flowers. Their faucles have ever delighted in likening the purest and holiest sentiments and feelings of the haman heart to the floral beauties they so much admired. Every flower, from the tiny but fragrant Lily of the Valley to the gandy sundower, has been seized upon and made to do duty as the representative of some condition, attribute, or action in life The sweet Verbena is the muto representative of "Sensibility." While the fragrant Tuberose Rose tells only of "Simplicity." The Damask Rose is the sign of "Youthful Freshness," while the glaring Peony is "Anger." But there is another property possessed by the flowers equally if not more important then, their beauty of form and color ; -we refer to the fragrance they exhale. What can compare with the breath of the blooming rose or the tender fragrance of the virgin lily? Aft tries and tries in vain to equal them. Chemistry, which seems to know no limit to its powers of simulation, fails com pletely in its efforts at producing the delicacy, combined with the richness of Nature's per-
